Personal Profile

I have prior experience with coding languages such as Python and C#, I know now that I want a career where I can interact with languages that challenge my abilities and help me grow in the sector of Software development.

I have recently graduated from a Bootcamp at JustIT Training, where I am consolidating my skills as a Web Developer. I am actively working on several projects involving User Interfaces, visualisation, and database management to build a comprehensive portfolio as seen in my Github (Portfolio).

Through hands-on experience with tools such as HTML, JavaScript, MySQL, and Python, I am honing my ability to create responsive websites and web applications and deliver actionable results. My goal is to leverage these skills to contribute effectively in creative environments and continuously grow in the field software to challenge and build upon my skills set.
